J.S. Supergraders orm Own League

ByMike Causey

The government's 10,000 caexpertise, power and key placeday control over the federal ma- and most Grade 16 employees. chine-are organizing.

which could become one of the dent Nixon that would raise the prost potent policymaking bodies in the nation, already in- pay from $36,000 to $41,000, alcludes top legal and tax offi-though Congress has voted itself cials and key aides from rate- new financial fringe benefits fining agencies. In grantes.

Disturbed by the adverse imand agencies and a five-year executive pay freeze during a time pergraders" have formed the Federal Executives League.

Leaders of the league hope to get support from the scientists, judges and administrators, technical experts who make the bureaucracy tick and who run the federal show no matter Congress or the White House.

Nearly a dozen top career officials met here yesterday to formally set up the organization, which has quietly been in the nonprofit organization within a making for more than a month. The organization is the first of its kind in government.

A list of "resolves" drawn up primary goal will be the "protection and advancement of the potential powerhouse. integrity, dedication, professervice," with special emphasis ernment.

tends to "protect the senior civil got Treasury to bring its checkservice from any and all politi-signing machine to the NIH cal or other extraneous pres-campus and workers queued up sures" that affect the perform-to have their checks made legal. ance of the top levels of govern- As of late yesterday, NIH bement.

The founders of the league of the unsigned checks and are concerned that ARIA ONE dalion Releases 2002/06/25 tives might be misunderstood or could pay rent, mortgages and that the first-time banding to-buy groceries.

gether of top career staff may be viewed as an unmanageable super-lobby.

Although they downplay the pay angle, it is a fact that league leaders are concerned about the stagnation of top-level federal pay, which has not been raised since 1969. Since the rank-and-file federal pay raise in October, several thousand additional government workers executives—people whose have moved into the $36,000 pay range, which now includes all ment give them virtual day-to- Grade 17 and Grade 18 workers,

Congress has refused to act on Membership of the group, a bill proposed by former Presilegal ceiling on career federal this year, because of "inflation."

Eugene G. Gosley, an adminispacici Watergate on the govern-trative law judge with the Nament, the politicization of fed-tional Labor Relations Board, is president of the league, and Rexford Resier, a top official of runaway inflation, the "su- with the U.S. Forest Service, is board chairman. Other officers are Robert Rhodes, assistant director of Interstate Commerce Commission's bureau of economics; Lois Dean, a top official at Housing and Urban Development, and John O'Brien, Internal Revenue Service's diswhich political party controls trict director in Providence, R.L.

League leaders hope to rent office space here in Washington and plan to file for a charter as a week. Meanwhile, they will wait to see if their fellow super-graders are interested in signing up, and also the reaction of Conby league founders says that its primary goal will be the "pro-lishment in government to this

Check Flap: More than 2,000 sional standing and general paychecks were delivered to well-being of the senior civil National Institutes of Health workers yesterday without the on promoting "ethical, efficient official signatures needed to and effective practices and pro- make them legal. When employcedures" at the top levels of gov-lees got the bad news, as banks and credit unions refused to The league says it also in-cash the checks, NIH officials lieves it had tracked down most

CIA-RDP76-00561R000100050116-2

: CIA-RDP76-00561R000100050116-2